

Total energy management

Business and Industry Today is pleased to award Energy Team (UK) Limited, with the prestigious Company of the Month award. This is due to the company's excellent standard of professionalism, and wide range of high quality services on offer to its customers.

Energy Team (UK) Limited, trading as energyTEAM is a leading, independent energy specialist committed to providing the highest standard of energy solutions in its field and reducing its clients' energy expenditure. Established in 1976, energy TEAM has over three decades of experience in energy procurement, and reducing the carbon footprint of its clients.

This dynamic company can boast of having some of the biggest names in commerce on its client list, including Eurostar, Virgin Atlantic and Carlsberg, and its main role is to help these large companies negotiate their energy contracts. This is undertaken with the aim to save the company as much money as possible, and to reduce the impact it has on the environment.

Its team of highly trained and experienced consultants carry out work on behalf of the Carbon Trust. The advice and guidance they provide is designed to help companies cut energy costs and use, and carbon emissions. This can often save up to 20 per cent on energy bills. Through these small actions, Energy Team is helping the UK move towards a lower carbon economy.

Energy Team also helps companies and corporations understand and comply with the latest energy legislation. As this is something that will always be necessary in the business world, Energy Team is bucking the trend in this difficult economic climate, and is expanding steadily. For example, it issued over 1,000 Display Energy Certificates (DEC) last year.

These are awarded after a successful inspection to measure the energy efficiency of public buildings.

This company is also leading the way in the often overlooked area of air conditioning. Most businesses do not realise that if they have an air conditioning unit of over 250 kilo watts, it needs to be inspected by an independent assessor. Energy Team has its own team of accredited inspectors who can ensure that units are running safely and efficiently.

Energy Team is constantly striving to second guess the market, and trains inspectors to become accredited before new legislation comes into force. This way, when new legislation is launched, its team is at the forefront and ready to inspect and issue certification from the first day, putting it way ahead of its competitors.

Plans for the immediate future for this forward thinking company include making preparations for the new Carbon Reduction Commitment (CRC) legislation. This is a UK-wide mandatory carbon trading scheme intended to encourage large organisations to reduce their carbon emissions. It is a compulsory scheme aimed at combating climate change, and comes in to force in April 2010. Energy Team are actively working with clients to help them comply with this very complex piece of legislation, which will have a major impact on qualifying companies.
